

GLUTEN FREE

Gluten is a binding protein that can be found in foods that contain wheat, barley and rye. Because of its binding properties, it is sometimes added by food manufacturers to items that don't contain wheat, barley or rye. Because gluten can be added to almost anything, it is important that to know which items on our menu are gluten free. Please be sure to notify your server if you have a wheat allergy or celiac disease.

While most of our non bread items are gluten free, if these items are cooked with oil that has previously cooked a gluten item, there is a strong chance that the gluten-free item will be contaminated. This is why it's important to let our staff know you are seeking a gluten free option, so we can be sure our cooks are using fresh oil when grilling items and cleaning the grill thoroughly, in order to avoid transfer.
